GETTYSBURG, PA., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1874.

NUMBER 10.
FIFTY-SEVENTH YEAR.

The Gettysburg Compiler
IS PUBLISHED ON FRIDAY
BY H. J. STAHLE.

TERMS.—Two Dollars per annum in advance—Two Dollars and Fifty Cents if not paid in advance. No subscription discontinued, unless at the option of the publisher, until all arrearages are paid.

ADVERTISEMENTS inserted at the usual rates—large reduction to those who advertise by the year.

JOB PRINTING, of every description—from the smallest label or card to the largest handbill or poster—done with dispatch, in a workmanlike manner, and at the lowest living rates.

OFFICE on Baltimore street, a few doors above the Court-House, on the opposite side, with 'Gettysburg Compiler Office' on the building.

THE OLD FRANKLIN, OR
McClellan House,
RE-OPENED.

THE subscriber respectfully informs the public that he has leased the above named and well known Hotel, situated on Centre Square, and about one hundred yards from the Railroad Depot, where he is prepared to receive and entertain the local and traveling public in a manner he ventures to say will be altogether satisfactory. His out door arrangements are also complete, having a good Stable, good hostler and a careful porter.

Mercantile Agents will always find at this Hotel a good and convenient room in which to exhibit their goods. This establishment is located in the centre of business and stands unrivaled.

Katalysine Water will always be on hand, free of charge, for boarders.

The undersigned declines making a multiplicity of promises, but cordially invites citizens and travelers to call and judge for themselves. J. B. DONNELL, Prop'r.

FERTILIZE! FERTILIZE!

THE undersigned has obtained from the United States, Letters Patent, dated March 26, 1872, for an

Improvement in Preparing Fertilizers FROM EARTH, &C.,

which he desires to bring to the attention of the public, especially that portion engaged in farming. The new process, which is simply burning earth in a kiln, has been thoroughly tested and proven a full success. It is, besides mode of fertilizing land yet discovered. The kiln is constructed at small cost, and but little fuel is required to operate it. Every farmer should have this invaluable right. In these days of high prices for lime, guanoes and phosphates, this improvement should be taken hold of by all who feel the need of fertilizing the soil.

THE CHEAPEST

Farm, Township, County and State Rights are now offered for sale. For further information, address SAMUEL BROWN, Miscellaneous.

A REQUIEM.

That dorg was every inch a dorg,
He knowed his duty straight;
He never missed a fight or fire,
Nor never turned up late.
My heart is broke, I'm much disturbed,
He was the steadfastest pup
That ever spoke for scraps of meat
Or chawed a liver up.

There's many dorgs that useless is
Could better have been spared;
But though he's dead my comfort is,
I think he was prepared.
My heart is broke, I'm much depressed,
He was the earnestest pup
That ever sot upon his tail
And cocked his left ear up.

He never failed, on no account,
Old women to annoy,
And organ grinders to torment
Was his especial joy.
My heart is broke, I'm much distressed,
He was the cheerfullest pup
That ever tored a lady's skirt
Or chawed a slipper up.

For cats he had great sympathy,
And showed it in a way
That made 'em glad to see him 'round
'Most any time o' day.
My heart is broke, I'm much concerned,
He was the liveliest pup
That ever treed a Thomas-cat
Or chawed a kitten up.

For settin' hens his feelin's was
Jocose to a degree,
He made 'em take new interest in
This world of misery.
My heart is broke, I'm much oppressed,
He was the persistentest pup
That ever chased a rooster 'round
Or chawed a chicken up.

He's gone! The world is dark and drear!
I'm sad and lonely now,
And gloomy retrospection sits
Upon this achin' brow.
My heart is broke, I'm much chagrined,
He was the affectionatest pup
That ever wagged a friendly tail
Or coughed a breakfast up.

PELEG ARKWRIGHT.

A CONFEDERATE STORY.

At a recent public meeting at Tuscumbia, Ala., General Cullen A. Battle related the following touching story in the course of his speech:

During the winter of 1863-'64 it was my fortune to be president of one of the courts-martial of the Army of Northern Virginia. One bleak December morning, while the snow covered the ground and the winds blew around our camp, I left my bivouac fire to attend the session of the court. Winding for miles along uncertain paths, I at length arrived at the court ground at Round Oak Church. Day after day it had been our duty to try the gallant soldiers of that army charged with violations of military law; but never had I on any previous occasion been greeted by such anxious spectators as on that morning awaited the opening of the court. Case after case was disposed of, and at length the case of "The Confederate States vs. Edward Cooper" was called—charge, desertion. A low murmur rose spontaneously from the battle scarred spectators as a young artillery man came from the prisoners' bench, and, in response to the question, "Guilty or not guilty?" answered "Not guilty."

The judge advocate was proceeding to open the prosecution, when the court, observing that the prisoner was unattended by counsel, interposed and inquired of the accused, "Who is your counsel?" He replied "I have no counsel." Supposing that it was his purpose to represent himself before the court the judge advocate was instructed to proceed. Every charge and specification against the prisoner was sustained. The prisoner was then told to introduce his witness. He replied "I have no witness." Astonished at the calmness with which he seemed to be submitting to what he regarded as inevitable fate, I said to him, "Have you no defence? Is it possible that you abandoned your comrades and deserted your colors in the presence of the enemy without any reason?" He replied, "There was a reason, but it will not avail me before a military court." I said, "Perhaps you are mistaken; you are charged with the highest crime known to military law, and it is your duty to make known the cause that influenced your actions." For the first time his manly form trembled, and his blue eyes swam in tears. Approaching the president of the court, he presented a letter, saying as he did so, "There, General, is what did it." I opened the letter and in a moment my eyes filled with tears. It was passed from one to another of the court until all had seen it, and those stern warriors who had passed with Stonewall Jackson through a hundred battles wept like little children. Soon as I sufficiently recovered my self possession I read the letter as the defence of the prisoner. It was in these words:

"My Dear Edward:—I have always been proud of you, and since your connection with the Confederate Army I have been prouder of you than ever before. I would not have you do anything wrong for the world; but before God, Edward, unless you come home we must die! Last night I was aroused by Eddie's crying. I called and said, 'What's the matter, Eddie?' and he said, 'Oh, mamma, I'm so hungry!' And Lucy, Edward, your darling Lucy, she never complains, but she is growing thinner and thinner every day. And before God, Edward, unless you come home we must die. YOUR MARY."

Turning to the prisoner I asked, "What did you do when you received this letter?" He replied, "I made application for a furlough, and it was rejected; again I made application, and it was rejected; a third time I made application, and it was rejected; that night as I wandered backward and forward in the camp, thinking of my home, with the mild eyes of Lucy looking up to me, and the burning words of Mary sinking in my brain, I was no longer a Confederate soldier, but I was the father of Lucy and the husband of Mary, and I would have passed those lines if every gun in the battery were fired upon me. I went to my home. Mary ran out to meet me; caught me in her angel arms and whispered; 'O, Edward, I am so happy! I am so glad you got your furlough!' She must have felt me shudder, for she turned pale as death, and catching her breath at every word, she said. 'Have you come without your furlough? O, Edward, Edward, go back! let me and the children go down together to the grave, but oh, for heaven's sake, save the honor of our name!' And here I am, gentlemen, not brought here by military power, but in obedience to the command of Mary, to abide the sentence of the court."

Every officer of that court-martial felt the force of the prisoner's words.—Before them stood in beatific vision, the eloquent pleader for a husband's and a father's wrongs; but they had been trained by their great leader, Robert E. Lee, to tread the path of duty, though the lightning's flash scorched the ground beneath their feet, and each in turn pronounced the verdict: Guilty. Fortunately for humanity, fortunately for the Confederacy, the proceedings of the court were reviewed by the commanding general, and upon the record was written:

HEADQUARTERS, A. N. V.
The finding of the court is approved. The prisoner is pardoned, and will report to his company.
R. E. LEE, General.

During the second battle of Cold Harbor, when shot and shell were falling "like torrents from the mountain cloud," my attention was directed to the fact that one of our batteries was being silenced by the concentrated fire of the enemy. When I reached the battery every gun but one had been dismantled, and by it stood a solitary Confederate soldier, with the blood streaming from his side. As he recognized me he elevated his voice above the roar of battle, and said: "General, I have one shell left. Tell me have I saved the honor of Mary and Lucy?" I raised my hat. Once more a confederate shell went crashing through the ranks of the enemy, and the hero sank by his gun to rise no more.

JOSH BILLINGS' ALMINAX FOR 1875.—The following are a few of the gems from this annual:

Half the discomforts of this life are the result of getting tired of ourselves.

Intellect without judgment is what ails about one half the smart people in this world.

To lie about a man never hurts him, but to tell the truth about him sometimes does.

Christians seem to fite under cover; but the devil stands boldly out and dares the world to single kombat.

Reason often makes mistakes, but conscience never does.

The man who is always confessing his sins and never quitting them is the most onsartin sinner I kno ov.

The man who kin set himself at work in five minutes notiss haz one of the best trades I kno uv.

I have made up my mind that human pappiness konsists in having a great deal to do and then keep doing it.

Yung man, you had better be honest than cunning, and it is hard work to be both.

Mi experience in life thus far has been that 7 won't go into 5 and hav much over.

Abuv all things lern yer child to be honest and industrious; if these two things don't enable him to make a figger in this world he is only a cipher, and never was intended for a figger.

HE TALKED IN HIS SLEEP.—There is a man in Jersey City who owns an elevator. The other night he was asleep, and his wife was awake. He dreamed and he uttered words in his sleep. She listened. He said: "dear Ella—darling Ella—sweetest Ella!" She would hear no more. She grabbed him by the shoulder, shook him till he awoke, and then shrieked: "Who is dear Ella?" "Who is dear what?" he asked, with a surprised look. "The dear Ella you've been calling darling and sweetest in your dreams." "Oh! I suppose I must have been thinking of the dear elevator which has cost me so much thought and trouble for the past two months. It's all been outgo and no income with it." The wife subsided. She may be fully convinced that he was wholly truthful, but she keeps a very suspicious eye on him. He chuckles when he's alone and says: "By George! that elevator was a lucky thought. If she only knew!" Then he chuckles a little more and goes and elevates his elbows.

A LITTLE girl, while playing on a railroad track at Hollidaysburg, Pa., got her foot so wedged in a frog that she was held fast. Her mother saw the predicament and heard an approaching train. She ran to the rescue of her child, but could not extricate the foot. The train came on, and although the engineer applied the brakes it was clear that it could not be stopped quick enough. The mother, seeing that the girl could not be less than maimed, held her as far off the track as she could while the cars went by. A foot was crushed but life was saved.

A SPECIAL despatch reports intense excitement in Allen county, Indiana, on account of the abduction of three children of John Martin, a few weeks ago, by two men and three women. The party were traced to Illinois, but have not been heard from since. The children were aged respectively ten, thirteen and fifteen years.

BANJO REMINISCENCES.

RICE AND JIM CROW—A STORY OF PRESIDENT LINCOLN.

Reporter—"To your knowledge who was the first man who blacked his face as a minstrel?"

"It was T. D. Rice, who became so famous as 'Jim Crow' and 'Long Tail Blue.' He was a lamp-lighter in a theatre in Louisville when Mrs. Drake, the ancestor of the Chapman sisters, was there. He first sung the song at a benefit. It represented a local character of Louisville, and made a great hit. You recollect it:

"I wish I was the President
Of these United States;
I'd lick molasses candy
And swing upon the gates.
Wheel about and turn about,
And do just so.
And every time I wheel about
I jump Jim Crow."

"He also did the famous opera of 'Oh, Hush!' That opera was written by a Kentuckian, Phil. White, who became Prothonotary of Philadelphia and was noted as a temperance lecturer. Rice went to England, in 1837, to 'star' on his own account and in his own pieces. His success was immense. He was very patriotic, though, and wore on his coat and vest, and pants even, American gold coin for buttons, eagles, half eagles and two and a half pieces."

"I suppose he had imitators at once?"

"Yes, indeed. Immediately following 'Daddy Rice' came Geo. W. Dickson. He was once an editor of a newspaper in New York; in 1833, I think. He was also a leader in the Kean riot at the Park Theatre, in New York. He went about as a political singer in the campaign of 1840, singing the Harrison songs."

"When was negro minstrelsy first organized?"

"It was on the occasion of Dick Pelham's benefit in the latter part of 1843. The band consisted of Pelham, Frank Brower, now dead; Dan Emmett, now keeping a saloon in Chicago; Billy Whitlock, now in the custom house, New York, and myself."

"And what songs did you have on the programme?"

"We had such as 'Dan Tucker,' 'Boatman Dance,' 'Jim along Josey,' 'Jinny get your hoe cake done,' 'Massa in the cold ground,' 'Lucy Long,' etc. 'Lucy Long,' 'Lucy Neal,' 'Lubly Fanny,' etc., were done without a petticoat, and there were individual burlesques in those days, a la Fanny Elsler, by Dan Gardner or Barney Williams."

"Barney Williams, do you say?"

"Yes, Barney was an ambitious performer, and he wanted to be a minstrel. He would play the bones one night, the tambourine the next, or anything they chose to put him at. You recollect, in 1844, when Clay and Frelinghuysen were running, we used to go about in black singing songs. One day we went up to Raritan, New Jersey, to serenade Frelinghuysen. The day previous we had been down to Rhode Island to try and sing Governor Dorr out of his scrape.

"On this account the Jersey folks took it that we had no right to sing Whig songs, and we received a salute of tomatoes, potatoes, cabbages, turnips, etc. Barney got his Irish up and wanted to fight the whole crowd, but prudence got the better of valor, and we went down to our boats, and getting on our dry clothes, escaped. There was in the company at that time a man by the name of Sam Johnson, who is now a millionaire of St. Louis. He was called the Green Mountain Boy, and was a fantastic fiddler."

"Speaking of Barney Williams reminds us to ask if minstrelsy pays as well as the legitimate business?"

"Perhaps not as a rule. Yet, John E. Owens may attribute his success, or his first start in life to playing Uncle Tom. He played at the St. Charles Theatre, Baltimore, under his own management. He was Uncle Tom with the Howard family, which played Eva, Topsy and St. Clair. That engagement secured his present homestead, liquidated all his debts, and brought him out with thousands of dollars in his pocket."

"And what has it done for the opera?"

"I might mention hundreds who have graduated from minstrelsy to opera. I must mention the great author of 'I wish I was in Dixie.' President Lincoln wished to have that proclaimed as a national song. He said once, 'If they (the South) steal the country don't let them steal that song.' Emmet has furnished minstrel troupes with many of their songs and nearly all of their popular walk-arounds, such as 'Ain't I Glad,' 'Come Out of de Wilderness,' etc. Artemus Ward wrote one popular song, 'Hand Down the Trumpet.' He got the points from a camp meeting in Ohio."

A WAY OF AMUSEMENT.—The peculiar passion of the negro for making a jubilee of funerals and their attendant solemnities is sometimes ludicrously set forth. A friend was taking a stroll one evening, and walking very slowly along, observed a man and woman in earnest conversation. Just as my friend neared them the man questioned his companion thus:

"Is you gwine to sit up wid de corpse?"

She answered in the negative.

"You ain't gwine to sit up wid de corpse?"

"No."

"What in de world is de reason you ain't gwine to sit up wid de corpse?"

"Why, you see, my husban' won't lem me."

"Your husban'! Well I never did see such a husban' as you got!—don't want to 'low you no pleasure in life!"

A FOOLED EAGLE.—In Virginia, lately, an eagle pounced on a young lady, fixed his talons in her hair, and flew off—with about ten pounds of jute. This incident will undoubtedly be used by the ladies as an excuse for wearing such enormous chignons; but is it right, is it fair to deceive a poor bird in this way? Imagine the feelings of that proud American bird when it alighted in the nest of its young, with keen appetites, and found no girl attached to that bunch of hair?

FAINTED.—Poor young thing! She fainted away at the wash tub, and her pretty nose went kerslop, into the soap-suds. Some said it was overwork; others, however, whispered that her beau had peeped over the back fence and called out: "Hullo there, Bridget, is Miss Alice at home?"

GOLDSMITH MAID.

The Evansville Journal gives the following account of this famous mare: The "Maid" was a wayward child. From the date of her birth on the farm of John B. Decker, in Wantage township, Sussex county, N. Y., in the spring of 1857, to the age of six years, she distinguished herself in many ways, but never as a trotter. She was undersized, nervous and fretful, and utterly refused heavy farm work. Mr. Decker, her owner, says he never got any work out of her but twice, one half-day in plowing corn and one half-day in drawing stones. Once she was hitched to a harrow, but after a short distance she reared backward and entangled both her hind legs in the cross piece of the harrow and so injured those members, that when she goes out for her morning walk, it is said, she still shows signs of stiffness behind, caused by this fall in early life. From the time she was six months old until Mr. Decker sold her, she was used as a race horse, though without her owner's knowledge. The boys on the farm, of course, as boys do, were anxious to know which was the speediest horse, and at an early day they found it was the "Maid." And so, after the "old man" had gone to bed, they would take her out of the pasture or stable, whenever a race could be made up, and run her on the road after night. She beat everything that could be brought to run with her, so that finally none but the uninformed from a distance could be found to bet against her. These races were made up at the country stores and lounging places, in the evening after farm work was over, and the race run the same night, after the "old man" had gone to bed. No training, no grooms, no jockeys, no weight for age—just a man or a boy in his bare feet mounted bareback, with his toes hugging the mare's belly like a leech, was the style; and the "Maid" no doubt enjoyed it more than she has some of her late races in the trotting ring. One day, in the summer of 1863, two men were out buying horses for the army, and stopped all night at Mr. Decker's, and in the morning bought the "Maid" for $260, and started for home, leading the mare behind them. On their way they met a Mr. Tompkins, who knew the little mare, and bought her of them for $360. The two men also knew her and believed that she could be made a trotter, but were willing to make $100 by their morning's bargain. The next day Tompkins sold her to Allen Goldsmith, an excellent judge of horseflesh, of Blooming Grove, Orange county, New York, for $600. From him she took the name of Goldsmith Maid. He kept her in pretty steady training under a driver named William Bodine, to whom, more than any other living man, should be awarded the credit of first bringing the mare out. The renowned Budd Doble, who now drives her so handsomely, had not then either seen or heard of her. While in training for the trotting course she was so fretful and irritable, so determined to run at every opportunity instead of trotting, so hard to bring to a trot after breaking from that gait, that Mr. Goldsmith many times determined to give up the training and sell her at any price; but his patient driver maintained his abiding faith in her, and assured his employer that she was the fastest animal on his premises, and would come out at last a great trotter, and finally persuaded him to keep her, which he did until this driver so brought out her points that Mr. Goldsmith in November, 1868, sold her to B. Jackman and Budd Doble for $20,000. These gentlemen sold her to Mr. H. N. Smith for the sum of $37,000. Mr. Doble still drives her. She made her first appearance in public in August, 1865, and this year trotted a mile in two minutes and fourteen seconds.

A WORD TO THE BOYS.—Boys, did you ever think that this world, with all its wealth and woe, with its mines and mountains, oceans, seas, and rivers, with all its shipping, its steamboats, railroads and magnetic telegraphs, with all its millions of grouping men and all the science and progress of ages—will soon be given to the boys of the present age—boys like you? Believe it, and look abroad upon your inheritance, and get ready to enter upon its possession. The presidents, kings, governors, statesmen, philosophers, ministers, teachers, men of the future, are all boys now.

A FREAK OF NATURE.—A special dispatch from Duluth, Minn., November 9, to the Chicago Tribune, says: During the fearful gale on Saturday night, an island two acres in extent, situate in St. Louis bay, one and a half miles above Minnesota Point, was displaced and floated a distance of three miles down into Duluth bay, and landed at Allen's shipyard. Upon the island are pine trees that will measure three feet across the stump, and it is thickly covered over with other timber. The soil on the island is as solid as any on the mainland."

IN a little town in Missouri a lady teacher was exercising a class of juveniles in mental arithmetic. She began to question, "If you buy a cow for $10"—when up came a little hand. "What is it, Johnny?"

"Why, you can't buy no kind of a cow for $10. Father sold one for $60 the other day, and she was a regular old scrub at that."

"MAMMA! where do the cows get the milk?" asked Willie, looking up from the foaming pan of milk which he had been intently regarding.

"Where do you get your tears?" was the answer.

After a thoughtful silence he again broke out:

"Do the cows have to be spanked?"

MRS. FLANAGAN, of Philadelphia, who is a daughter of Judge Strong of the United States Supreme Court, is said to have received the most valuable wedding presents of all the brides this season. Among her gifts were a $10,000 set of silver and gold, a $5,000 pair of diamond ear-rings, a $5,000 set of pearls, and four India shawls.

AT a public gathering lately in New York, one of the gentlemen present was called upon for a speech, and this is how he responded: "Gentlemen and women, I ain't no speecher. More'n twenty years back I came here a poor idiot boy, and what are I?"

INTRODUCTION OF THE TOMATO.

Tomatoes first began to be used as an article of food in this region about 1829. Dr. W. S. Hendrie, of Doylestown, informs us that when a young man, in 1819, he first became acquainted with them. He then lived in Warren county, New Jersey, and being about to visit New York one of his friends, Dr. David Green, requested him to buy some tomato seed there. He did so, and the young plants were duly raised. Dr. Hendrie's mother expressed an objection to the plants, on account of their peculiar smell. She said that it was familiar to her. When the fruit ripened she recognized it as the same that she had grown in the garden as a curiosity, calling it the "love apple." It was thought to be poisonous, and she did not wish it used in her house. But the young man proceeded to cook the tomatoes in an old vessel, according to directions, with butter, bread crumbs, &c., and placed them on the table. The first mouthful he took was enough; he made haste to the door to dispose of it. He never tasted them again until 1829, at the house of a friend in Philadelphia, where some stewed tomato was put on his plate. It tasted good, he took some more, and he has eaten tomatoes ever since. Tomatoes are now in such universal use that we make this note of their first introduction for the benefit of our younger and middle-aged readers. The original tomato in this country was rough and much convoluted, and it has been very greatly improved by skilful culture. The tomato belongs to the nightshade family, and is believed to have originated in South America.—Bucks County Intelligencer.

CHANGES OF A CENTURY.—The nineteenth century has witnessed many great discoveries:

In 1809 Fulton took out his first patent for the invention of the steamboat.

The first steamships which made regular trips across the Atlantic Ocean were the Sirius and the Great Western, in 1830.

In 1813 the streets of London were for the first time lighted with gas.

In 1813 there was built in Waltham, Mass., a mill, believed to have been the first in the world which combined all the requirements for making finished cloth from raw cotton.

In 1790 there were only twenty-five post offices in the country, and up to 1837 the rates of postage were twenty-five cents for a letter sent over four hundred miles.

In 1807 wooden clocks commenced to be made by machinery. This ushered in the era of cheap clocks.

About the year 1833 the first railroad of any considerable length was built in the United States.

In 1840 the first experiments of photography were made by Daguerre.

The anthracite coal business was begun in 1820.

In 1836 the patent for the invention of matches was granted.

In 1845 the first telegram was sent.

Steel pens were introduced for use in 1803.

The first successful trial of a reaper took place in 1833.

In 1846 Elias Howe obtained a patent for his first sewing machine.

The first successful method of making vulcanized India rubber was patented in 1839.

LARGEST PEACH ORCHARD IN THE WORLD.—Shellcross, who resides near Middletown, Delaware, owns the largest peach orchard in the world. Last year he shipped to New York 125,000 baskets of fruit, and it is estimated that he lost, by being unable to procure labor to pick, about 25,000 baskets more. On several days he loaded from his orchard ten car loads.

Mr. Shellcross' orchard reaches along the public road for more than eight miles—generally on either side—and covers an extent of upwards of 1,000 acres; on which are growing more than 100,000 trees. The land on which Mr. Shellcross' trees are planted is worth $150,000.—Horticulturist.

TIDIOUTE evades the local option law in a peculiar manner. There is but one place in the town where the cup that inebriates can be procured, and that is so arranged that the drinker never knows of whom he is procuring his indispensable. The searcher after his morning bitters enters a room, one side of which is boarded up. In this position a horizontal wheel revolves. Over the wheel is the legend, "Drop your money on this wheel, call for what you want, and wait until the wheel revolves." The first order obeyed, and the wheel turns around, bringing out the desired liquid. The man is unable to swear who sold him the liquor, as no person is visible.

ALEXANDER DELMAR is again at his statistics, and this time the subject considered is the wheat market. He shows that Egypt and other sources of supply cannot meet the demands of Great Britain without the material aid of the United States, and that the exports from this country will in consequence, for the years 1874-'75, be much larger and the prices better than now prevail, notwithstanding the estimates of interested English statisticians and "bearish" American newspapers.

PREDICTIONS OF A COLD WINTER.—According to a Pittsburgh newspaper, the gray squirrels in the Allegheny valley are engaged in a general migration. They draw their recruits from all points, and may be seen daily swimming the river in large numbers, and pursuing an easterly course. Old farmers say that such a migration has not taken place since 1846, and regard it as the forerunner of an extremely severe winter.

IN WISCONSIN, the other day, a wedding procession and a funeral procession met and got so badly mixed that half the people living near the scene declare that they saw a funeral procession accompanied by a brass band, while the other half are ready to swear that a wedding procession passed, headed by a hearse.

GOOD temper is like a sunny day; it sheds a brightness over everything. It is the sweetener of toil, and the soother of disquietude. A preserved temper is a good preserver.

Do not be content with well doing, for it is only by constant striving to excel each previous effort that men ever arrive at great ends.

FRIDAY, NOV. 20, 1874.

THE vote in Pennsylvania at the late election was twenty-five per cent. heavier than in 1873.

ON the 1st day of January next there will be twenty-one Democratic Governors in the thirty-seven States.

DID we hear any body say anything about a third term? And, if so, will he be kind enough to repeat his observation?

A CONTEMPORARY notes the effect of the recent revolution. Last year Harry White strutted in two offices and now he hasn't one.

THE Southern papers say that soiled paper collars, fine tooth combs and old carpet bags can be picked up quite promiscuously along the roads in Alabama and elsewhere now. The tracks of the owners point toward the North.

This is the last great rebellion.

More troops, oh! Grant, more troops.

THE Philadelphia Inquirer (Rep.) thinks there will be no harmony between the President and the 43d Congress, as the members return to Washington embittered by their expulsion forever from their places through his fault.

THERE has been a marked advance in the prices of Southern and Western State bonds since the late election. The Philadelphia Ledger noting the fact says: "It looks as though the South and West anticipate a general revival of business."

THERE are some Republican editors who assert the cause of Republican defeat to be the placing of bad men in power and keeping them there against the earnest protest of the people. True, every word of it, but we took notice that all these bad men when nominated for office were invariably supported by these same editors. The defeat, therefore, is a rebuke.

BILL MANN DEFEATED!—The official majority of Furman Sheppard, Democrat, over the notorious Bill Mann for District Attorney of Philadelphia, is 1,467. Mann and Butler defeated! What a glorious day's work.

Goddard, Democrat, is elected Coroner in Philadelphia over Ash, Republican, by 1,686 majority.

ALLEGHENY county, the banner Republican county of the Union, gave a majority of 2,615 for Hon. John Latta, our candidate for Lieutenant Governor, and a majority of 2,476 for Justus F. Temple, Democratic candidate for Auditor General, besides electing part of the Democratic county ticket, a majority of the Legislative delegation and two Congressmen. Verily the world moves.

THE newspapers are already making candidates for the United States senatorship. William A. Wallace, Charles R. Buckalew, Richard Vaux, George W. Woodward, Jeremiah S. Black, Hiester Clymer, John Trunkey, Henry M. Philips, Francis W. Hughes, R. M. Gibson, William A. Galbraith and William Elwell are among those mentioned for the successorship to John Scott.

THE Republican party may make great efforts in some localities to revive itself and especially in this State. Perhaps in 1876 it will make a general effort to elect a President. But we believe the wound it has received at the late election is mortal and that there will not again be a formidable opposition to the Democracy until some new party shall arise, which shall not have the load of odium and sin to carry that attaches to the Republican organization.

AT a public meeting held in Baltimore on Friday night, at which only white Republicans were allowed to attend, the negro members of the party were unceremoniously thrown overboard as an incumbrance. The speakers at the meeting were of one opinion. They all insisted that the exclusion of "the negro was the only safety for the party. White men must assume and keep the control. The color line was the line of safety." This is rather hard on the "man and brother."

ALL angry dissensions and contentions upon party tenets are unseasonable and out of taste, but a stern and steady arraignment of Radicalism in the highest and the lowest places, and a summoning of Radicals to face their own record and "a frowning world;" while dignity, courtesy, fidelity, and economy in the conduct of our own representatives exhibited in sharp contrast, will strengthen and lengthen the waves of popularity which are setting in our direction.—Commonwealth.

THE Philadelphia Press says "Pennsylvania must take the lead when the lines are formed for the Presidential struggle of 1876." So say we, and we have no doubt that Pennsylvania will take the lead on that occasion, but she will not lead as the Press desires. In view of the late elections, the talk of that paper about the next Presidency will strike the public as somewhat ridiculous. What possible chance will there be for the Radical candidate in 1876? He will not carry more than seven States, and these will be small ones.

WHEN the highest peaks are covered is when the flood is greatest, and the height of the tide of Democratic re-action is most significantly measured by the fact that Massachusetts elects a Democratic governor, the first she has had for a genereration. It was in 1839 that the old Bay State had her last Democratic chief magistrate, old Governor Morton, who was then elected by just one vote. Since then it has been steadily Whig and Republican till Tuesday week.

THE people of Hollidaysburg, Pa., have been having a very novel and yet a very social demonstration of their feelings over the late elections. Without regard to party differences they held an immense parade, in which all freely participated, and in which were borne Republican and Democratic banners, testifying respectively to the sorrow and joy of the two parties. At its conclusion a mass meeting was held addressed by speakers of both political sentiments, the one party congratulating themselves on the result and the other cheerfully accepting it.

A KINGDOM FOR A SUCCESSFUL POLICY

Amazed and bewildered by their overwhelming defeats and probable absolute political destruction, the Radical leaders are to have a meeting at Washington city to fix up a new policy for their party, to reconstruct it, and to invent means, if possible, to save the remains of their party from dissolution. It is announced that Gen. Grant and his Cabinet are to take part in the proceedings. The Philadelphia Press correspondent gravely says that "Gen. Grant has expressed the opinion that if they are so disposed, the Republicans can, during the three months that remain to them, originate a policy which will restore confidence, and carry the country at the next general election." ORIGINATE A POLICY is good! very pointedly exclaims the Columbian. To "originate" is to produce something that has not heretofore existed. To "originate a policy" therefore means to abandon the policy of the Republican party and substitute something else—in short to bring forward a new party in its place. That is palpably what Gen. Grant means, and if his dictation is not accepted, his declaration means also that he intends (what he has long foreshadowed) to crush the Republican party. Even now he declares that it is not he who is condemned by the recent elections, but the Republican party, which has not, he says, yielded altogether to his ideas.

The Republican leaders want him to reconstruct his Cabinet, but he swears he won't. He even goes so far as to say that the Cabinet is a personal matter with himself and that neither politicians nor other people have the right to interfere in its constitution—that it is none of their business who compose it, and that he will consult no one in regard to it.

What else is to be proposed and what adopted at this meeting of wise Republicans time alone will determine. Gen. Grant may propose a third term for himself as a measure of conciliation, or may "originate" something else. If he does he will compel its adoption or smash his party. The only thing certain is that from the day he drove Sumner, Chase, Greeley, &c., from his confidence and destroyed their standing in the Republican party he has been determined that neither they nor their friends nor political followers should ever rule this country again. If his dictation is not followed the Republican leaders may as well say: "Good bye, Gen. Grant."

A WASHINGTON dispatch ascribes to Simon Cameron the following sentiments in regard to the late elections and the probable course of the Republican party:

> He thinks the Republican party is to blame for the recent Democratic victory. The party as a whole was too sure of success and bragged too much of its perfect organization and the inability of any outside party to break up that organization. The Senator denies with considerable force the truth of President Grant's statement that Congress was wholly responsible for this great disaster to the Republican party, and thinks, if the President is correctly reported, he is entirely wrong in his assertion. The Senator, in alluding to the defeat of his party, says he does not know what Congress will do at its next session to retrieve the errors of the past, but is sorely afraid that the party next session may commit worse errors than ever before.

The party is in a sad plight. The way which it saw open to relief is closed. The scapegoat (Grant) will not move. One party may coax, and the other threaten, but he is "not that kind of a goat."

A GOOD RESULT.—The elections on the 3d inst., the Butler Herald says, will do more to restore peace and tranquility to every section of the country than all the miserable and wretched tinkering of a corrupt and debauched National administration. The conversion of the Southern States into just so many provinces where carpet-baggers stole with impunity, and scalawags used the ignorant negroes as voting machinery to put them in office, did incalculable mischief, but now that the change has come, these leeches will no longer be permitted to feast and fatten on the life blood of the people. They will be driven from place and power and honest men put in. This will give relief. Public confidence will be restored and the whole land obtain rest after the terrible ordeal through which it has passed.

A LIVING LIE—AN INGLORIOUS DEATH.—A New York paper says:

> It is with joy and gladness we announce the good tidings from every point of the compass. Democracy is triumphant everywhere. The people rule. Military despotism, Grantism, and Republicanism are snuffed out effectually and forever! The people have arisen in their might and entered their solemn protest against the men and the measures that have obtained at Washington; have freed themselves, and once more proclaimed that the people are sovereign, and that our public agents are our public servants. It is a white man's victory; a victory for intelligence and public virtue. It is the free and untrammeled expression of the people. Bayonets, bullets, and bullying count no more. The Republican party is crushed forever! It can never, never rise again! There is no truth in it, and it is as unstable as water! It has lived a living lie and it dies an inglorious death! We will give peace to its ashes because its death gives peace to the country!

THE Mechanicstown Clarion proposes the editor of the Gettysburg Compiler for Clerk of the next National House of Representatives, (in place of Hon. Edward McPherson, of the Gettysburg Star & Sentinel,) and thinks "the Maryland delegation might be counted on as a unit to give him a lift."

No, friend Nead, no. Let offices go where they will, we want none.

Your very complimentary notice is appreciated, but we would not change our post of duty. To speak to the people, in a candid and conscientious way, through this old organ of the Democracy, is the height of our ambition; and to enjoy the patronage of its friends, as we have enjoyed it, and hope to continue to deserve, we shall always prefer to stay just here.

A SOLEMN WARNING.—Two years ago Harry White and James A. White both voted to strike the word white out of our state constitution. Last week both of these gentlemen went before the people and asked to be sent to Congress (the latter from the Mercer district), but the people struck both these Whites out of this body. A little rough on the Whites, but they began it!—Clearfield Republican.

OUR Radical exchanges are already imagining that they can see a fight among the Democrats about the Speakership of the next house of representatives at Washington. Don't be alarmed, gentlemen—we will settle that just as easy as we settled you at the late election. The Democratic party run the Government and Congress both long before your party was born.—Watchman.

AMIDST other Democratic rejoicings, the Democrats of Potter county are justly jubilant. They not only reduced the Radical majority of that county, in the face of the fact that Judge Olmsted, a popular man, headed its ticket, but elected a Democratic Representative to the Legislature and a District Attorney. We hope soon to welcome Potter into the Democratic ranks again.

THE DEMOCRATIC CONGRESS.

Notwithstanding the fact that a Republican President remains in office and that a Republican majority continues in the Federal Senate, and that the Democracy therefore cannot enact National laws to stay the career of destruction brought upon the country by the Radical party, the election of a Democratic majority to the Federal House of Representatives is most important.

The Radical leaders have for some time been congratulating themselves that if they could not elect the next President by the people, they could at least throw the issue into the House, where they would be safe. Instead of any such safety that trick now would be sure defeat. The next Presidency will therefore be decided by the people, as it should be, and if accidentally thrown into the House the Democratic candidate will be elected.

But, as the Columbian remarks, among the most important points gained is the power to investigate—to unearth and expose the various Radical frauds upon the people and to show up the corruptions of that party in unvarnished language. So careful were the Radical leaders to cover up every abuse, that when Mr. Magee, of this State, last winter offered a resolution to inquire into the amount of defalcations in detail under the Grant administration, the amount of such that had been recovered and by whom paid, the number of defaulters still in office, &c., Butler, Dawes, Maynard, &c., pounced upon him like so many tigers, and referred his resolution to the most important and carefully packed committee in the House and smothered it there. If this Congress now refuses to pass it, the next will no doubt promptly adopt it. But this will not now do, of itself. In addition there ought and no doubt will be separate and distinct investigations into every branch of abuse and robbery that has been carried on, and the odious corruption that has so long existed will be fully exposed. Secretaries and other officers and Congressmen have not grown suddenly immensely rich in an honest way.

THE scene shifts from Louisiana to Arkansas, and an order from the President or his over-ready and intermeddling attorney general is only required as a signal for the civil conflict. Smith, the ex-lieutenant governor under Baxter's administration, has set up claim to the office of Governor and his supporters are urging the President to overthrow the government of the people of Arkansas. He could thus inaugurate in that State the same turbulent and anarchical condition of affairs that he has produced in Louisiana. Smith is collecting troops, and if recognized by the President will march on the capital. At Washington there are conflicting opinions as to the probable course of the President. The lesson of Louisiana should be enough for any President but one fatally bent on pursuing his schemes of ambition at whatever cost.

Grant may repeat the scenes of Louisiana or Arkansas in obedience to the wishes of Clayton and other radical conspirators of that State. If he do it will be against the pronounced judgment of a vast majority of the people. But whatever course he may take, whether he interfere in Arkansas, or leave the people to themselves, the days of the Merrills and Hodgsons will soon be ended forever. Military despotism met with its condemnation at the last election, and it can never again lift its head against popular opinion.—Patriot.

— A Washington dispatch of Tuesday says that President Grant declines to interfere in Arkansas affairs, Louisiana having doubtless been lesson enough for him.

ALL the indications from the state of Louisiana tend to show that the Kellogg government intends to overrule the voice of the people in that State by a fraudulent count in the returning board of which there is not a single Conservative member. So far as members of Congress are concerned the seats can be contested and the frauds exposed when the Forty-fourth Congress meets. In the meantime, if anything were needed to feed the fire of popular indignation and keep it at white heat, Louisiana will furnish the fuel. The usurping Governor of that State, sustained by the Federal army and navy, sponging from the record the returns of the election by which the people have sought to peacefully redress their grievances, is a spectacle not calculated to allay hostility to President Grant and the party which sustains him. It makes the time seem long until the will of the people can make itself felt against all the parties to this infamy.—Patriot.

ONE OF TWO THINGS.—The Springfield (Mass.) Republican, a Republican paper of considerable independence, says of the recent elections:

> We are now in a fair way to see one of two things happen in our politics. The first is a Republican reformation; the second is a Republican schism. Of the two the former will strike the great majority of thoughtful people, whose judgments are not warped by partisanship, as altogether the most hopeful and desirable result of these November reverses. This would be the probable result, also, but for one thing, or rather for one person. That person is General Grant. If such an attempt is seriously made—as we know it to be very seriously thought of—and if the President's natural obstinacy and impatience of advice betray him into the folly of resisting it, the most likely result is a division of the party.

GOOD FOR THE AFRICAN COAST!—The African coast has at length been successfully invaded! Powell, Democrat, reduces Bradford county for Congress to 600 majority and is elected in the district. Rockwell, Democrat, is elected to the Senate, in Bradford and Wyoming. He is a man of ability and will make his mark in State politics hereafter. Maj. Terry, Democrat, is elected to the Legislature from Bradford; Hollenback, Democrat, from Potter, and Backus, Democrat, from McKean! In Tioga, the Radical majority is cut down from 3,000 to 1,600, and Susquehanna gives them only 600! We may begin to look for old fashioned Democratic majorities along the northern tier in a year or two. The foundation is firmly laid and the structure is partially erected!—Columbian.

HOW comes it that "Southern Outrages" stop so suddenly since election is over? We now look through the Republican papers in vain for a single outrage, where before the election little else was to be found! What has become of Attorney General Williams' outrage mill? If Democratic victories have the effect to quench all wickedness in the south and elsewhere, will it not be well to repeat them whenever opportunity occurs?

BEN. BUTLER has been beaten in Massachusetts for Congress, which is a most righteous decision. He was of all the Congressmen the most unscrupulous, and used party organization for his own selfish purposes. He can now retire from public life and polish up his spoons. He will have time to do it.

COURT.—We continue the report of last week's Quarter Sessions, as follows:

Commonwealth vs. Martin Sheeler.—Assault and battery on Peter Stock. Verdict not guilty, and county to pay costs of prosecution.

Commonwealth vs. George Mathias.—Fornication and bastardy, on oath of Susanna R. King. Verdict guilty of fornication only, as the birth of the child occurred out of the county—in Maryland.

The three cases against Wm. Wible, by the Dodge and Stevenson Manufacturing Company, were given to one jury, and the prosecutors failing to produce any witnesses, the jury, under the instruction of the Court, rendered a verdict of not guilty, without leaving the box.

A petition for a bridge across Little Marsh creek at Gingell's mill, on the road from Seven Stars to Lower Marsh creek church, was filed, and H. J. Stable, J. B. Danner and F. S. Ramer appointed viewers.

—The Common Pleas Court was to begin on Monday morning last, but Judge Wills having taken sick the night before, and not likely to recover sufficiently to allow him to go upon the bench for a few days, the jurors were dismissed until Wednesday. The Associate Judges sat for current business, and the following items were disposed of:

On a petition from citizens of Oxford township to establish a new election poll, it was ordered that a vote thereon be taken by the electors of the township on the 28th day of December next.

Henry A. Picking, John F. Felty and Robert Bell were appointed viewers on a change of site for a bridge granted across Conowago at Brown's mill, on the line of Hamilton and Reading townships.

Samuel J. Smith, Peter Hommer and Cornelius Lott were appointed viewers on a road from the Berlin road, near William Brenn's, to Bender's church.

Judge Wills took his seat on Wednesday morning. The case of Isaac Myers, John Hoffman, Jacob Mowery, Daniel March and Isaac Byers, surviving members of the Berlin township school board, against Wm. H. Deatrich and Samuel Deatrich, in reference to a bounty subscription, was taken up, and is on trial as we write.

NOTWITHSTANDING the threatening weather, the Democratic Jollification at Emmitsburg on Tuesday evening proved a decided success. The torch-light procession embraced the Band in a showy chariot, also martial music, a number of wagons variously decorated, a salt river party, (sad and sick,) with a long column of horsemen, and many persons afoot. The line, lighted with torches and Chinese lanterns, and a score of transparencies, and ringing with cheers from front to rear as it passed through the several streets, was a grand "sight to see," as well as pleasant to Democratic ears. Among others, we were glad to notice a good delegation from Liberty township, this county.

The procession came to a halt in front of Mr. Adelsberger's hotel, in the public square, and after appropriate music, the Chief Marshal, Joseph Byers, Esq., introduced Samuel Motter, Esq., who spoke ably and forcibly of the issues involved in the late canvass, the action of the people thereon, and the prospect of continued successes for the Democratic party. Mr. Byers followed with a telling speech also; James A. Dwen and Capt. McBride congratulated the assemblage on the glorious results; and H. J. Stahle closed. The speaking brought out frequent and hearty cheers, and in response to a proposition to work for a similar demonstration a year hence, the welkin rang again and again. A large bon-fire and anvil-firing closed the jollification. The houses of Democrats were illuminated, some of them very handsomely.

THE "UNKNOWNS."—Mr. D. C. Sage, under his contract with the War Department, is now engaged in "marking" the graves of the 979 "unknown" soldiers in the National Cemetery at this place. The marks consist of blocks of Vermont marble, thirty inches long and six inches square, the top and sides dressed four inches down, with a number, running from 1 up, on each. When completed, the job will greatly relieve the monotonous appearance of the three sections containing the bodies.

The stones, weighing fifty-five tons and filling five cars, arrived here on Monday, and were hauled to the Cemetery by Ziegler & Holtzworth. The weight of each stone is about one hundred and ten pounds.

Capt. George H. Griebel, of the War Department, is here as inspector of the work. Col. Mack also arrived on Wednesday evening.

Mr. Sage's contract covers the marking in this form of the unknown in seventy three National Cemeteries, located in twenty States, (from Texas to New York,) besides the District of Columbia and the Indian Territory. The number of stones to be set is 108,000 and the price $2 12 for each. Part of the work is finished, the whole to be done by the middle of next May.

GAME.—The following summary of the general game law will be of interest:

1. No nighthawk, whippoorwill, sparrow, thrush, lark, finch, martin, swallow, woodpecker, flicker, robin, oriole, redbird, tanager, cedar-bird, cat bird, blue bird, or insectivorous bird can be shot or killed at any time of the year under a penalty of five dollars.

2. Pheasants, squirrels, plover, and reed birds cannot be shot between January 1 and September 1; partridges between January 1 and November 1; woodcock between January 2 and July 4, and rabbits between January 1 and October 1, nor at any time to be hunted with ferrets, under a penalty of ten dollars.

3. No pheasant, partridge, woodcock, or reed bird is allowed to be taken by means of any blind, tray, snare, net, or device whatever, under a penalty of ten dollars.

4. No person can buy game taken out of season, possession being prima facie evidence—under a penalty of ten dollars.

5. Shooting or hunting on Sunday is prohibited under a penalty of from ten to twenty dollars.—Norristown Herald.

THE way men put off important matters to the last moment is one of the curious things in nature. The fifth concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky was advertised to take place July 31st. The day after, August 1st, Gov. Bramlette, the manager, at Louisville, received over $50,000 for tickets. Had the drawing taken place at that time the Governor would have had to send this money back, but as the Concert was postponed to November 30th, it was all right with them. We presume that on the first day of December next, the day after the Concert, thousands of dollars will be received, one day too late, for there will be no further postponement. This money might just as well have been sent a week before, as when it was. It

SURROUNDING COUNTIES.—The Democrats had a grand Jollification at York last evening.

The York County Teachers' Institute will be held in the Court House at York next week.

Wednesday evening week, a brakeman, Amos Glendening, had his right hand terribly crushed at the York depot, as he attempted to couple two cars. He afterwards left on a train for Marysville, where he resides.

A few months since Mr. Samuel Bollinger, of Heidelberg township, York county, died at the ripe age of 91; and last week Eva, his widow, departed this life, aged 90 years 5 months and 13 days.

On Monday evening Rev. Edward L. Stoddard was installed as Rector of the Episcopal church at York.

Mr. F. Klinepeter, at York, paid $15 for a bronze turkey weighing 40 pounds.

The York Daily records a sad death: Harry Frank, son of William and Emeline Martin, of Jackson township, aged 2 years, 10 months and 9 days. This bright and promising child on Saturday last, whilst the parents were attending to their evening work at the barn, being alone with a younger brother in the house, climbed upon a chair near the mantle, for the purpose of getting the matches there kept, with which he ignited his clothes, and before help could reach him, was so severely burned that death ensued the following morning.

A special train, last week, carried A. J. Cassat, Vice President of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and several other officials, from York to Frederick and back, the trip covering a ride in carriages along the Short Line from Hanover to York. Various rumors arose in consequence.

Simon J. Diller is again at the helm of the "Diller House" in Hanover.

—The Echo says that, last week, the Thomas Iron Company at Pine Grove discharged again a large force of their employees, owing to the dull sale of iron ore and pig iron. The company have about 300 tons of pig iron at Pine Grove which they refuse to sell at the present low prices.

Work at all of the Musselman ore banks in Cumberland county has been suspended.

One hundred black bass from the Potomac have been placed in the large spring at Boiling Springs. The town wants a Savings Bank.

The Windemaker brothers, at Carlisle, last week, plead guilty to the charge of horse-stealing. Sentenced to the penitentiary for eighteen months.

—The Chambersburg Opinion reports 900 bushels of corn from 7 acres in Franklin county.

A shooting affair took place at Fannettsburg, on Monday, which has produced considerable sensation in that vicinity, the parties engaged holding respectable positions in society. The altercation was between Dr. Alexander and Mr. Typer, in which the former received a number of pistol shots from the weapon of the latter. Rumor has it that Dr. Alexander had been too familiar with Typer's wife. Typer has been placed in the Franklin county jail.—Shippensburg News.

A carpet manufactory is to be started in Chambersburg.

—On Friday last, at Frederick, Md., Robert Flemming, about twenty six years old, attempted to jump from a passenger train on the Pennsylvania Line railroad, at its intersection with Fourth street, and fell under the wheels, and had his left leg so badly crushed that amputation was necessary.

A WALKING ADVERTISEMENT.

LIMESTONE SPRINGS, S. C.

DR. R. V. PIERCE, Buffalo, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—I am a walking advertisement for your Golden Medical Discovery, Purgative Pellets and Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, they having cured me of Catarrh of nine years' standing, which was so bad that it disfigured my nose, and while curing it, your medicines also cured me of Asthma in its worst and most aggravated form. Before using your medicines I had become reduced in flesh from one hundred and fifty-five to one hundred and fifteen pounds, and I now weigh one hundred and sixty-two pounds, and am in better health than I have enjoyed for twenty years.

Yours truly,
J. L. LUMSDEN.

The above is but a fair sample of hundreds of letters which are received by Dr. Pierce, and in the face of such evidence who can longer doubt that the Doctor's medicines cure the worst cases of Chronic Catarrh.

THE GREAT FAVORITE WITH THE LADIES.

WM. Forsyth Bynum & Son, druggists, of Live Oak, Fla., write, Sept. 16th, 1874, as follows: "Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.—Your Golden Medical Discovery and Purgative Pellets sell very largely and give complete satisfaction, as numbers of our customers and friends testify with pleasure. Your Favorite Prescription is indeed the great Favorite with the ladies, and numbers can say with joy that it has saved them from eking out a miserable life or meeting with premature death, and restored them to health and happiness."

Thousands of women bless the day on which Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was first made known to them. A single bottle often gives delicate and suffering women more relief than months of treatment from their family physician. In all those derangements causing back-ache, dragging down sensations, nervous and general debility, it is a sovereign remedy. Its soothing and healing properties render it of the utmost value to ladies suffering from internal fever, congestion, inflammation or ulceration, and its strengthening effects tend to correct displacements of internal parts, the result of weakness of natural supports. It is sold by all druggists.

Dr. PIERCE's pamphlet on Diseases peculiar to Women will be sent to any address on receipt of two stamps. Address as above.

TEXAS GIFT CONCERT ASSOCIATION.—Again we call the attention of our readers to this Association. Endorsed as it is by the most prominent citizens of Denison, Texas, we have no hesitancy in recommending the opportunity to our citizens for an investment that may be to their interest. The local agent of the Association informs us that the tickets are selling rapidly in all States of the Union. One dollar may secure you a cash prize, a homestead or a business house in one of the most prosperous and enterprising towns in Northern Texas. It

HAVE you a severe wrench or sprain? Have you rheumatism in any form? Have you stiff neck, or bunches caused by rheumatic pains? If so, Johnson's Anodyne Liniment is a specific remedy, used internally and externally.

We often see a large stock of cattle which do not seem to thrive, and come out "Spring poor," all for want of something to start them in the right direction. One dollar's worth of Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders, given to such a stock occasionally during the winter, would be worth more than an extra half ton of hay. It

RECORD YOUR DEEDS.—The attention of parties holding unrecorded Deeds is directed to the provisions of the Act of Assembly, which requires that—

> "All deeds and conveyances for real estate in this commonwealth, shall be recorded in the office for Recording Deeds in the county where the lands lie, within six months after the execution of such deeds and conveyances; and every such deed and conveyance not recorded as aforesaid, shall be adjudged FRAUDULENT AND VOID against any subsequent purchaser for a valuable consideration, unless such deeds be recorded before the recording of the deed or conveyance under which such subsequent purchaser or mortgagee shall claim."

This is a very important notice, and those holding unrecorded deeds will see the importance of having them recorded without further delay. Mar. 18. tf

A MAN IN RUINS.—One of the saddest spectacles in the world is a human being shattered and broken down by the use of ardent spirits. But the damage may be repaired, the ruin restored to perfect soundness, by a course of that most powerful of all invigorants, DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS. Beware of those "tonics" of which rum is an element. They aggravate disease and promote decay. 4w

A POETIC genius has been inspired to the production of the following touching parody on a familiar song. The Elmira Gazette publishes it:

Who killed Grant?
He did it himself
By plunder and pelf;
Ulysses killed Grant.

Who saw him die?
Old Ben shouted "I,
With my cock eye
I saw him die."

Who caught his blood?
"I," said the Fish,
"With my Spanish dish,
I caught his blood."

Who'll dig his grave?
"He did it himself,
He's laid on the shelf,
He dug his own grave."

Who'll be the parson?
"I," said old Dawes,
"Alas for the cause,
I'll be the parson."

Who'll toll the bell?
"I will," said Blaine,
"I can do it without pain,
I'll toll the bell."

Who'll preach the sermon?
"I," said Conkling,
"I'm good at ranting,
I'll preach the sermon."

Who'll be the mourners?
"We," shouted the office holders,
"We loved him best,
We'll be the mourners."

Then all the postmasters
Set up a hypocritical chant
When they heard of the death
Of poor 'Lyss Grant.

THE SPARROWS.—Last spring a number of English Sparrows made their appearance in this place, but as warm weather approached they took their departure. A few days ago, however, they again appeared, in largely increased force. Where did they spend the summer?

THE climax of diabolical crime has been reached in Cincinnati, where three men, of whom two were father and son and the third their employee, murdered Herman Schilling, a German baker, by striking him with a pitchfork and thrusting him, while yet alive, into a hot oven where he suffered the most intense agonies of death while wedged in the flaming flue. Two of the murderers have been arrested and have confessed the horrid deed, which was prompted by a suspicion that the victim had betrayed a deceased daughter and sister of the principal perpetrators of the fearful crime.

THE people of Vermont and Rhode Island are mad over the result of last Tuesday's elections. They would like to vote over, so as to go with the crowd. However, we are willing they should remain as they are. We must have somebody against us.—Cleveland Plaindealer.

Fifth and Last Gift Concert,

IN AID OF THE

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.

A CARD TO THE PUBLIC.

The management have determined to have the drawing of the Fifth and Last Gift Concert of the Public Library of Kentucky, on the 30th day of November next. We believe now that all the tickets will be sold, and that the drawing will be a full one, but whether all are sold or not the drawing will nevertheless certainly come off on the day appointed.

The special object of this card is to call a meeting of the ticket-holders at Public Library Hall, on the 29th of November, to make arrangements in connection with the committee appointed by the Trustees to superintend the counting of the tags representing the numbers of tickets sold. While there is no actual necessity for the presence of ticket-holders, as under our arrangements the interests of all are equally cared for, yet at the same time I would greatly prefer that as many of those interested as can, would attend this meeting and see each for himself how perfectly fair and impartial the distribution must be.

Every arrangement has been made for the drawing—but little more than a month remains for the sale of the remainder of the tickets, and whatever is done must be done promptly.

TRADE MARK.

HOW IT WORKS.

THE operations of MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS are simple but effectual. It strikes at the very source of difficulty in the fluids and solids of the body, hence its cures are radical and thorough.

In Dyspepsia, it strengthens the Stomach.

In Liver Complaint, it regulates the flow of Bile.

In Kidney Complaints, it excites and induces a healthy action of the Kidneys.

In Constipation, it promotes a punctual habit of body.

In Nervous Ailments, it tones and strengthens the sentiments and motive fibres of Nerves.

In Rheumatism, it generates and diffuses a genial warmth, enriches the Blood, and counteracts pain.

In Chills and Fever and Malarious Disorders, it counteracts and dispels the noxious inhalations and renders the system strong to resist the attacks of poisonous vapors. It can be relied upon with safety in every emergency.

Dearest Charley, thou hast left us,
Here thy loss we deeply feel;
But 'tis God who hath bereft us,
He can all our sorrows heal. A. G. B.

Communicated.

Died, in Mountpleasant township, on the 31st inst., DAVID J. TOPPER, aged 5 months and 19 days. He was a lovely child upon earth; but how much lovelier he is now in heaven! Jesus came and took him. He is now forever safe in the Paradise of glory above, where no sin or pain, or sorrow can ever reach him. Let this be your comfort, weeping parents. The child cannot come back to you, but you may go to the child.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

THE ADAMS COUNTY TEACHERS' INSTITUTE will meet in the Court Room, Gettysburg, DECEMBER 7, 1874, at 2 o'clock, P. M., and remain in session five days. The exercises will be varied, as usual, consisting of lectures, Addresses, Readings, Essays, Class Instruction, Class Drills, Discussions, Spelling Contests, &c.

A full corps of instructors has been engaged for the occasion among whom are the following: M. Valentine, D. D., Prest. Penna. College, Prof. J. W. Shoemaker, of Philada., Mrs. Anna T. Randall Diehl, of New York, John G. Morris, D. D., of Balt., Profs. Richards and Himes, of Penna. College, Prof. A. R. Horne, Prin. Keystone State Normal School, and Profs. Geo. P. Beard and Chas. M. Carter, of the C. V. State Normal School.

All these are well known practical and experienced teachers, who know what sort of instruction common school teachers need, and who will adapt themselves accordingly. If possible, instruction will be given in all the common school branches, as well as in methods of teaching the same.

Every opportunity will be given to members for a free and full interchange of opinion concerning the various subjects and topics presented. Teachers will do well to mature and arrange their thoughts in advance of the meeting, so as to be able to present them promptly and gracefully at the proper time.

During the day sessions the every-day work of the school-room, in all its varied forms, will receive attention, while the evenings will be devoted to Lectures, Addresses, and Readings of a popular character.

Thursday will be Directors' Day, when questions of school law, and matters of general and special interest to directors will be considered. It is earnestly hoped there may be a large attendance of our director friends, not only on this day, but on all the other days of the Institute, and that all who come may take part freely in the deliberations.

Arrangements have been made for vocal and instrumental music for the evening sessions. The Institute will provide its own music for the day sessions.

The usual reduction will be made in railroad and hotel fare to members.

All in all, the coming meeting promises to be one of the very best ever held in the county. The prospects for a successful Institute were never better. No pains will be spared to make it in all respects what it should be. The programme will be so rich and so complete that no teacher can afford to be absent a single day. Since the law imperatively requires these meetings to be held, let there be a large attendance from the first to the last session.

ENTERTAINMENTS.

Grand Jury Report.

TO the Honorable the Judges of the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace for Adams county, Pennsylvania.

The Grand Inquest inquiring in and for the county of Adams report that they have visited the public Buildings of the county. First visited the Alms House, and in the absence of the Steward, were very kindly and courteously received and conducted through the different buildings by members of his family. We are able to report that order, neatness and cleanliness seemed to prevail in every department. We as Grand Jurors were especially pleased with the general management.

And of our County Jail would say we visited it and were gentlemanly conducted through it, and found everything clean and neat and kept in a very creditable manner. The Roofs, &c., seem to be in an impaired condition, and would recommend repairing, both at the Alms House and Jail.

H. C. DERR, DENTIST,

HANOVER, PENN'A.,

HAS been in active practice over sixteen years, eight years of this time having been spent in Hanover, where he is daily inserting artificial teeth which for beauty, durability and natural appearance cannot be surpassed. It is a well known fact that he is putting up better artificial teeth for less money than any other dentist in this part of the State.

Full upper or lower sets as low as $10 a set. Temporary sets given free of charge when permanent ones are wanted. No charge made for extracting when artificial teeth are needed. Every set insured to give satisfaction or the money will be refunded. Special attention paid to the treatment of all diseases of the mouth and filling decayed teeth.

In order to convince the public that he intends to do exactly what he advertises, he hereby agrees to return the money to any one of his numerous patrons for whom he has already inserted artificial teeth, (or for whom he may hereafter do any work) who can truthfully say that they are not in every manner as he represented them; that is, satisfactory in every particular.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For the relief and cure of all derangements in the stomach, liver, and bowels. They are a mild aperient, and an excellent purgative. Being purely vegetable, they contain no mercury or mineral whatever. Much serious sickness and suffering is prevented by their timely use, and every family should have them on hand for their protection and relief, when required. Long experience has proved them to be the safest, surest, and best of all the Pills with which the market abounds. By their occasional use, the blood is purified, the corruptions of the system expelled, obstructions removed, and the whole machinery of life restored to its healthy activity. Internal organs which become clogged and sluggish are cleansed by Ayer's Pills, and stimulated into action. Thus incipient disease is changed into health, the value of which change, when reckoned on the vast multitudes who enjoy it, can hardly be computed. Their sugar-coating makes them pleasant to take, and preserves their virtues unimpaired for any length of time, so that they are ever fresh, and perfectly reliable. Although searching, they are mild, and operate without disturbance to the constitution or diet or occupation.

Full directions are given on the wrapper to each box, how to use them as a Family Physic, and for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor, and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach, and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action, or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back, and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression, a large dose should be taken, as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion, and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

FARM AND GARDEN.

BOILED CORN FOR POULTRY.

In the breeding of poultry, as in all other pursuits, a little care and forethought invariably return an apparently disproportionate result. In the rearing of poultry, where the expenditure on each fowl is small and the material provided comparatively inexpensive, we are apt to overlook the small wastes which occur in the transformation of the different grains into poultry, but aggregate quite a sum.

The opinion that corn is very nourishing food for fowls is so universal that no further thought is given to the matter. If any one should suggest that corn would be easier of digestion if soaked or boiled, he would very likely receive the answer that corn was nothing hard to digest for birds, which swallowed stones and other hard substances without detriment. A moment's thought, however, will convince that the mill stones and the grist are different things, and feeding hard grain, although not exactly like feeding the millstones with pebbles, bears a certain likeness to it. The trouble attendant on the preparation of food, if it is to be cooked, may indeed seem very disproportionate to the advantage to be derived from such treatment, but in reality little time need be spent, as before going the rounds of the nests, a little hot water may be poured over the grain, a tight cover put on the kettle, and the whole placed over the stove, where by the time your rounds are completed, the corn will have become steamed and mellow, and have lost none of its good qualities. Remember each hen has a certain amount of animal force to be expanded every day in some direction, and the less she has to give to digesting her food, the more she will have to be expended in egg producing. The advantages of the warm food in winter, when much food goes toward producing animal heat to withstand the cold, are two fold—from the direct action of the warmth, and the slower action of the food itself, to say nothing of the fact that content produced by nourishing food will result in more eggs, for a hen thoroughly at home will lay many more eggs than a discontented one. We have performed the experiment ourselves, and know that feeding boiled corn does pay, and it is as a result of experience that we offer this plan to our friends.—Farmer.

DARK STABLES.

There can be no doubt that light is as important to the health of animals as to man. We all know the exhilarating effect of sun light upon ourselves. We know that plants cannot grow in a healthy way without light, and that in a cellar where a ray of light comes through a crevice, plants will stretch toward this light. We should endeavor to render stables pleasant for our animals, not only out of motives of kindness but from motives of interest. An animal will thrive better on the same food in a light, cheerful stable than in a dark one. In building new barns, care should be taken to arrange the stables on the south-east side, so that direct sunlight may be admitted. A stable should be made as light as the living room of a house; when this is done cattle will not be anxious to get out of the stable in winter. So little attention is paid to light that we often find it painful to the eyes to go in such stables. Many horses have undoubtedly lost their eyesight by being taken from dark stables to the light. The horse shies at objects simply because of the flood of light thrown upon its eyes. These sudden changes from darkness to light soon produce blindness. We shall find it for our true interests to study all the wants of our animals.—Buffalo Live Stock Journal.

YELLOWS IN THE PEACH.

If you dig around a peach with the yellows you will be first struck with "a mushroomy" smell. Picking out the roots, and examining them with a lens, you will see millions of thread-like fibres, which are the Mycelia of fungi. These eat the young fibres, and leave only the main roots, through which all the nutriment of the plant has to be gathered; and as an old root is unable to do much more than draw in water, the tree becomes in a measure starved, and the leaves become yellow, just as they would be if growing in poor soil, which, though the plant might have plenty of roots, furnished nothing for the roots to eat. To have plenty of roots and no food is equivalent to having plenty of food and no roots. The effect on the plant is just the same. Hence remedies which look to the destruction of this root parasite are employed. Hot water has done it; so has a weak solution of salt. Others have found a solution of potash succeed. The exact nature of this fungus, so far as we know, has not been investigated to entire satisfaction. Fungi are very polymorphous. This one may enter into the circulation of the plant, and exist in that case as an apparently distinct species, extending through the tissue, and destroying as it goes. This seems likely from some experiments by Mr. Thomas Taylor, of the Department of Agriculture, reported some time ago by us.—Gardeners' Monthly.

FATTENING HOGS IN WINTER.—Hogs and pigs, especially the latter, when fed on corn in the ear in the cold weather, frequently have their mouths made so sore that they will scarcely eat anything. This is the reason why hogs cease to gain, and even fall away, as cold weather comes on. A fattening hog in a warm pen should not and does not suffer from the cold. His fat and high feeding are sufficient to protect from that. But if he is feed on corn from the field (often frozen) until his mouth is nearly raw, the poor animal may not eat enough to keep up his vital heat—may, in fact, be absolutely starving when its owner innocently supposes it to be fattening. More hogs are in that condition than many farmers would believe possible, which only shows how many poor managers there are. The more a fattening animal can eat and digest, the greater the profit. Hence its feed, instead of being given to it frozen, should be steamed or cooked and fed slightly warm.—Moore's Rural New Yorker.

FATTEN PIGS EARLY.—The farmer should not forget that warm weather is the profitable time to fatten his pigs. He should not wait until it takes one half of the food that the pig can eat to keep him warm. Now is the time to feed soft corn. The corn on an acre will make 25 per cent. more pork while soft than when it gets hard and flinty. In the soft state it does not need any cooking; it is then in the cooking process of nature. Feed your pigs now, judiciously, all they will eat, and push them on the fattening road as fast as possible.

HOW TO BUY A PIG.—A man on Long Island, famous for his hogs, was asked what was the secret of his success. He answered: I always choose a good-natured pig. Those that when they eat are constantly running from one trough to another and knocking their snouts against the next pig, I sell to my neighbors, who don't know better than to buy such troublesome animals, while my contented pigs get fat.

THE plowing under of green crops is not likely to sour the soil unless stagnant water exists in it. The presence of such water in the soil favors the production of acids, but where the soil is free from it there is always sufficient alkaline matter to take up the acids which may be formed during the decomposition of growing grass, clover or buckwheat, which may be plowed under. Barnyard manure is the cheapest and most useful fertilizer for all or any crops.—N. Y. Tribune.

IF you wish to make a nail drive easily and last long without rusting, dip it in melted grease first. This is excellent for fencing and other exposed work.

THE HOUSEKEEPER.

EFFECTS OF SALTING BUTTER.

The well-known fact that in the whole of Northern Europe all butter, without exception, is salted immediately on its production, while in the Southern countries none but the most inferior butter is either sold or used salted, led to the investigation of the effect of the salt by Martini. This included analyses of salted and unsalted butter by Professor Miller, and the conclusion was reached that the salt is advantageous to both the consumer and producer. The weight of the butter does not seem to be increased by the salt, since the weight of the liquid worked out about equals that of the salt added. The butter so treated is also found to be but little if any richer in fat, but to keep better and longer, not only on account of the antiseptic property of the salt, but because it is almost partially freed from casein and milk-sugar, the two ingredients which, in the presence of water, impart a tendency to decomposition. The salt also renders the working of the butter easier, apparently, by partially reducing the adhesion between the casein and milk-sugar and fatty particles, thus facilitating the removal of the former, just as salt added to poor milk will cause it to filter more rapidly, while casein and milk-sugar pass into the filtrate, some casein remaining with the fat on the filter. The preference for unsalted butter in some countries, Martini attributes entirely to unfounded prejudice.

EXERCISE FOR WOMEN.—Women need exercise in more ways than riding or walking even; they require to use their hands and arms, to throw out their chests, to put the whole body in motion. No Health Lift, no gymnastics are half so good for this purpose, as making beds, and sweeping, dusting, and arranging rooms. Then there is something peculiarly agreeable in the thought that an intelligent hand touches and smoothes sheets and pillows, evens everything off nicely, removes with care dust from vases, bottles, books, and secret nooks and corners, leaves the toilet apparatus in order, and takes away whatever is unsightly. The time required is very little, indeed, when the work is done with regularity, and the satisfaction is immense.

APPLE MARMALADE.—Peel, core and boil the apples—Spitzenburgs are the best—with only sufficient water to keep them from burning; beat them to a pulp; to every pound allow three-quarters of a pound of lump sugar; dip the lumps into water, put these into a saucepan and boil until the syrup is thick and can be well skimmed; add this syrup to the apple, with half a teaspoonful of minced lemon-peel to each pound, and stir over a quick fire till the apple ceases to stick to the bottom of the pan. Dip jelly moulds into water, and lay in the bottom as they are inverted, a few strips of citron and some blanched almonds.—Country Gentleman.

PRESERVING EGGS.—The following receipt from "Wright's Poultry Book," is recommended very highly:

"To four gallons of boiling water add half a peck of new lime, stirring it some time. When cold, remove any hard lumps with a course sieve, add ten ounces of salt, three ounces cream of tartar, and mix thoroughly. The mixture is then to stand a fortnight before using. The eggs are to be packed as closely as possible, and to be kept closely covered up. If put in when new laid they will keep nine months.

JAM OMELET.—Beat up the whites of four and the yolks of six eggs with a very small pinch of salt. Put a piece of fresh butter in the omelet pan, and directly it is melted pour in eggs. As soon as they are set, fold up the omelet, inserting within the fold as much jam as will lie in it. Turn out the omelet on its dish, cover it with powdered sugar and glaze it with a red-hot salamander.

TO KEEP SWEET POTATOES.—A correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette says: "Procure dry forest leaves; place in a barrel or box a layer of leaves, then a layer of potatoes, and so on. Last fall I wrapped some of the finest in paper before placing them in the leaves, and these were found in the spring to be more perfectly preserved than those that were not thus enveloped, although all kept well."

A HOT lemonade is one of the best remedies in the world for a cold. It acts promptly and effectively, and has no unpleasant after effects. One lemon properly squeezed, cut in slices, put in sugar and cover with half a pint of boiling water. Drink just before going to bed; do not expose yourself on the following day. This remedy will ward off an attack of the chills and fever if used properly.

KEEPING CELERY IN WINTER.—"W. T. S." writing from Chester county to the Germantown Telegraph gives the following plan, by which he says a friend has kept his celery through the winter now for several years by, standing it in spring water about an inch in depth; and kept thus it continues to grow and send up fresh branches, so that he has cut nice blanched, tender tops two and three times in the winter.

FROM Hall's Journal of Health for this month we learn that alum, two pounds, boiled and entirely dissolved in a gallon of water, will, if applied boiling hot, with a brush, to every place infected with any kind of house insects, effectually drive them away.

DELICIOUS JUMBLES: One cup sugar granulated, one cup of fresh butter and lard mixed, two eggs, two cups of flour. Extract of lemon for flavoring. Drop a small spoonful on buttered iron sheets, and bake quickly.

ALL bulbs that bloom in the spring—snow drops, crocus, narcissus, hyacinth, etc.—must be planted this month if the work was not done in September and October.

RIBBONS should be washed in cold suds and not rinsed.

AGENTS AND DEALERS IN
PIANOS, CABINET ORGANS, MELODEONS
AND ALL KINDS OF MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS,

respectfully inform the public that they are prepared to furnish Pianos of the following manufacture or of any other make that may be preferred:

Albright, Reikes & Schmidt, Chickering & Son, Bradbury, Knabe & Son, Gale & Son,

ESTEY'S CELEBRATED

COTTAGE, HARMONIC AND BOUDOIR

ORGANS AND MELODEONS.

These instruments stand unrivalled by anything found in this country or in Europe, as is admitted by all impartial judges. The most eminent Pipe Organ Builders and Performers, the first to discover excellence in reed Tone, pronounce them vastly superior to all others for exceedingly quick articulation and round Tone, the essential feature in instruments of this class. We invite the severest scrutiny and criticism of all.

PATENT VOX HUMANA TREMOLO.

This late and most wonderful invention (so acknowledged by all leading artists) will be found only in the Estey Instruments. In attempting to describe the effect of this stop, we are at loss for language. It is a miracle cannot be written, but must be heard to be appreciated. By this stop an ordinary performer can produce an effect which requires a lifetime of practice for an artist upon a violin. It entirely changes the reed Tone, giving the sympathetic sweetness of the human voice, making it so melodious and pure that it never fails to enchant the listener.

THE HARMONIC ORGAN

for Churches, Public Halls and Parlors has a powerful sub-Bass with independent reeds, Harmonic attachment and Vox Humana Tremolo, and is believed to be the most powerful reed organ made, being nearly equal to a Pipe Organ of three times the cost.

All instruments warranted for five years.

☞BRASS BANDS supplied with instruments and music at reasonable terms.

A liberal discount allowed for Churches and Sabbath Schools.

☞Instructions given both in Vocal and Instrumental Music, at our rooms, and at pupils' homes, either to individuals or classes on reasonable terms.

INVALIDS,

Don't Despair!

Thousands have found relief, and thousands will turn to this Medicine, after exhausting their purses and patience in search of health. Giddiness of the head, dullness of the mind, fetid breath, coated tongue, loss of appetite, pains and weakness in the stomach, enlargement of the liver, yellowness of the skin, constant fever and thirst, with a total distaste for business, pleasure, or any kind of employment. FAHRNEY'S PANACEA, if taken and persevered in for a few days, will remove this whole class of symptoms. The fluids of the body become pure, and mind clear, the stomach strengthened, the tongue clean, the appetite improved, and the whole system benefited that disease, in bad weather, is less liable to afflict you.

Trade Dr. P. FAHRNEY'S Mark

Celebrated

Blood Cleanser or Panacea.

As a medicine for children, the Panacea is, in every way, calculated to take the place of the endless variety of drugs which are annually sold for that purpose, and which are often very injurious. A medicine which possesses the qualities of a cathartic as well as a mild alterative, and which is capable of arresting disease without the least injury to the child, is of incalculable value to every mother. As a cathartic, it is very effective, yet it does not, if given in proper quantities, cause nausea or distress in the stomach or bowels. It is very pleasant to the taste, which is a very important feature as a medicine for children. As a preventive of disease it is unprecedented, as it acts directly upon the digestive organs and the blood. In all scrofulous diseases, it is the most effective medicine ever offered to the public; and, if given regularly and perseveringly, those eruptive diseases so common to children may be entirely eradicated.

Prepared by P. Fahrney's Bros. & Co., Waynesboro', Pa., and Dr. P. FAHRNEY, 30 North Dearborn street, Chicago. For sale by wholesale and retail dealers, and by A. D. BUEHLER and J. M. HUBER Gettysburg.

VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE.

FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the blood purifier and a life giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver or Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

Dr. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters act on all these cases in a similar manner. By purifying the blood they remove the cause, and by resolving away the effects of the inflammation (the tubercular deposits) the affected parts receive health, and a permanent cure is effected.

If men will enjoy good health, let them use VINEGAR BITTERS as a medicine, and avoid the use of alcoholic stimulants in every form.

Johnson's Combined Wrought Iron Reaper and Mower,

All having Johnson's Self-rake, with the improvements on the Rake for the coming season, which is only found on Johnson's own make—AND NO OTHERS—and for sale only by the undersigned, Agent for Southern Pennsylvania and Maryland. Also for sale the SPRAGUE SINGLE MOWER, THE ACME SINGLE MOWER, BRADLEY'S AMERICAN HARVESTER, together with SHIREMAN'S IMPROVED KEYSTONE SEPARATING ATTACHMENTS and other COMBINED THRESHERS AND SEPARATORS, SHIREMAN'S HAND & SELF-DUMPING HORSE RAKE, McSHERRY'S GRAIN DRILL, THE BIRDSILL CLOVERSEED SEPARATOR, CORN PLANTERS, CORN SHELLERS, SECOND-HAND REAPERS, REAPING KNIVES, BONE DUST, GUANO, &c., &c.

KEEP IT BEFORE THE PEOPLE!

☞JOHNSON'S COMBINED REAPER AND MOWER is light and strong, and has more good points, and less traps, than any machine in the market. All I ask is to Come and See it and be Fully Convinced.

CAUTION!

THE REPUTATION OF THE

DIAMOND SPECTACLES,

SOLD BY

A. R. FEISTEL,

The only Authorized Agent for this County,

IS becoming so great and widespread, that Spectacle Peddlers find it impossible to sell a common article, and are now selling the inferior as being the Diamond Spectacle.

I would therefore CAUTION the public against buying any Diamond Spectacle not bearing this trade mark ☞ on each pair, as the Spencer Optical Manufacturing Company does neither supply nor employ peddlers. For sale only by
A. R. FEISTEL,
York street, Gettysburg.

Manhood: How Lost, How Restored!

JUST published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure (without medicine) of SPERMATORRHŒA or Seminal Weakness, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, CONSUMPTION, EPILEPSY and FITS, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance; Piles, &c.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only six cents.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, post-paid, on receipt of six cents, or two post stamps. Also, DR. SILSBEE'S REMEDY FOR PILES. Send for circular. Address the publishers,
